The Campus

How often have we looked up to this, our Alma Mater! From the air we have another delightful view. We shall cherish the memories of the four years of college life and always be proud of the name of Springfield College.

SENIOR LEGEND

AND so it has come to pass. It seems but yesterday that we were frightened, green Freshmen wandering about the campus and into buildings, through the back doors, wondering what was expected of us. A jump from high school, yet not so different as we had fondly believed. Then the class scraps, which helped to bind the class closer together, were held. Finally the day of days when our trial period was over and we were "stepped up" and accepted.

As Sophomores we decided against initiation and on that memorable night in October we, the class of 1931, dealt initiation its death blow by abducting the Freshmen and refusing to turn them over to the upperclassmen.

Then the Junior year which saw the class making contributions to the life on campus by placing men in the rôles of leadership on the athletic field and in the executive and legislative staffs in the Student Association. Then to cap off a great year—the Prom!

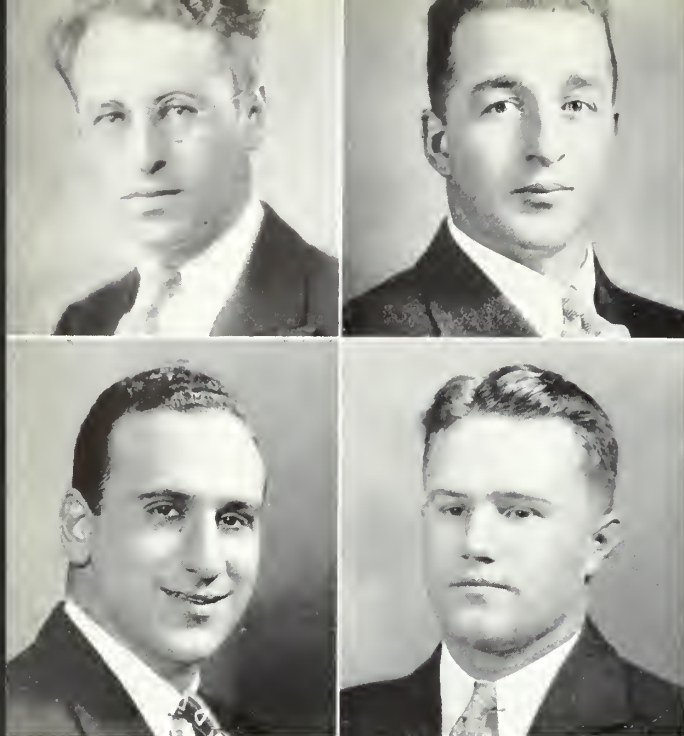

Finally we are Seniors. The goal long sought for, but yet secretly dreaded. The responsibility of directing student activities and policies. Of using past experiences to make a greater college. That the class has not been found wanting in these capacities can be seen on every hand—in the reforms initiated, in the remaking of policies, of making even greater the name of Springfield College.

The Future? We are prepared. Changes and transitions of every kind have been our diet. Through them all we have emerged victorious, and the great step will not find us wanting. Ever onward, Springfield men!

THE GRADUATE STUDENTS

S. Parks

AMID the roar and din of a turbulent depression, the noble class of 1935 came upon the Springfield campus with buoyant strides and bewildered expressions. For three years this class has successfully combated the maze, haze, and fog which has surrounded it at every turn. It has plugged on and on, never deviating from the goal and standards visioned early in its Freshman year.

Commencing with its open interclass battles through to its tenure at Freshman camp, this gallant class kindled a surging spirit that will not only stamp its John Hancock upon our fair institution but will throw its weight and energy into far more important fields in days to follow.

'Tis sad we cannot forever continue this Utopian community, preserving our much cherished associations with such stalwart men as our bald eagle president, Moe Levey the gymnast, the unconquerable Clarks, those Maine flashes, and the New Jersey braggadocios. Yet the memories of a splendid four years will restore many sparkling adventures, good fellowship, and a true sense of satisfaction.

In another year we may proudly gaze up and down the graduation line—the gaunt Freshman is now a man of grace (thanks to his physical activities and Ted Shawn), the robust youth is another Apollo, the Liliputian is a picture of organic power, “skin and bones” is now a mass of muscle, and the most remarkable change of all is the many warped cranial processes which have been straightened out and new and revolutionary ideas being put in their stead.

IN DAYS gone by a band of young men entered the lodge of Massasoit to prepare for life and to find a truer way to live it. At first, like mountain streams, they were full of undirected, inefficient power, leaping where they would and lacking depth. New contacts were made, new invigorating, directing forces were felt and the young men, the Tribe of '36, finished their first year with larger power and new developed direction to their currents.

Then came the second season and the streams grew much in depth and straightened to truer directions. The young men met, absorbed, and thought. Their work was taking on new purpose and new interest. Varsity activities found a ready and able quota of second-year men, and studies were mastered with new-grown efficiency. Mistakes were made, there were eddies in the currents, and here and there a stream branched out only to find a dead end and must needs turn back. But these divergences were fewer than the first year. New arrivals also entered the lodge, in need of guidance and help, and here the part-seasoned band of '36 endeavored to do their best. The whole new growth was toward direction and depth-efficiency and understanding.

Ahead lie two more seasons, the greatest years of all. There each stream must decide upon its final direction, must absorb new rivulets to grow in power and depth, and finally flow into the great ocean of workaday life with its powerful swells and criss-cross of currents where every stream must add to its fresh supply of directed energy and accumulated power, to make a greater, finer ocean.

A. Allen

It is the middle of September and a laughing, bewildered, youthful-eyed mass of male humanity jostles into the Old Dorm and presently hustles out again as the class of '37.

Follow frantically busy days of scheduling, book buying, studying, attending classes, getting lost, and orientation, the last effectively accomplished at Freshman Camp.

As they gather elannishly around the red glow of the campfire, there emanates from the '37's an invisible, indefinable energy, a strange, intangible potency, undirected, unharnessed, auguring a future incalculable. The genial Freshman Dean, Charles B. Frasher, eyes the class wonderingly. Into what channels will his potent force be directed?

In ensuing weeks the class submits quietly to hazing pranks, wins from the Sophs both the Rope Pull and the Cane Rush, and is duly and ceremoniously initiated by Chief Massasoit.

In January it elects class officers, Archie Allen, president; Albert Scholtz, social vice-president; Warren Huston, physical vice-president; Vernon Lippitt, secretary; and Carl Bryant, treasurer. In January, too, its members are seen whispering together, gathering secretly in rooms, grouping in the foyer of evenings. The Freshman Dean lifts wondering eyebrows. The clan is gathering. The indefinable force is being harnessed. For what purpose?

The '37's answer the question on February 1, when, directed by General Committeemen, Earl Brooks, Robert Anderson, Clark Dexter, Vernon Lippitt, Donald Pernie, Stephen Cunningham, Stanley Baker, and Harold Butt, they write a new page into the social history of Springfield by staging a reception, the first of its kind, in honor of their faculty.

A week later some of the '37's organize a society for purposes, as they explain to their Dean, of cultural training and expression. The Dean scratches his head bewilderedly. Freshmen seeking culture! What next from these amazing '37's? He lifts his head, peers into the future, seeking . . . searching . . . wondering . . .

CHARLES E. SILVIA
President of Student Association

STUDENT ASSOCIATION

THE validity of the idea that strength and solidarity is to be found in united corporate student action as expressed through the form of the Student Association has been thoroughly proven throughout these years of depression.

A lasting tribute must be paid to those alumni and administrative officers who first conceived the idea and made it a reality. Full appreciation is due to each man on the campus who has so loyally supported and maintained it.

The Association, or, if you please, the present student body in action, has been able to maintain practically its entire program during our national crisis which has profoundly affected many colleges, a number of which have inquired as to our organization. We have dropped a few of our social affairs, but none of our Dramatic, Glee Club, Band, Debating, Religious and Publication activities, a fact amply supported by the evidence of the following pages. We still maintain the European Geneva Scholarships, although the men have had to make real sacrifices to do so while our complete sports program is retained in its entirety.

A new venture of the students, the Student Union, has resulted in the development of an excellent series of well attended meetings with outstanding speakers, eight in all. The Union has a bright future before it in the field of international relations and economic affairs.

CARMINATI PARSONS SILVIA WOOD

The Official paper of the Association and the college, The Springfield Student, has expanded in size and effectiveness. A number of excellent deputations developed and the Anti-War emphasis in April received wide support and attention. These along with delegations to conferences were promoted by the Religious Committee, the International Relations Committee and the Cosmopolitan Club.

Although we have had fewer foreign students this year, their contribution to the international understanding and appreciation of other nationalities and races has had a wide effect.

For some time students have been mentally depressed and handicapped by insufficient finances and it is difficult to estimate the value which the program of the Association in its varied phases has for students in these circumstances. Undoubtedly it has functioned well in providing practical experience, training and a wholesome outlet for leisure time activities.

A most hopeful condition is seen in the serious study which a great number of students are giving to the social, economic, religious, international, political and professional problems of this day.

ADVISORY COUNCIL

THIS council is a distinct asset to campus life and does much to bring about a better understanding between faculty and students and between the various Student Association departments. The council has proved its worth and is a real benefit to all parties concerned.

Four faculty members, including the president of the College, five students including the President of the Student Association form the Council.

The faculty members are chosen by the President of the College and the undergraduates. The Students are appointed to the Council by the President of the Student Association subject to the approval of the Cabinet.

THE CABINET

AN important factor in Springfield College life is the Cabinet which is the executive-administrative body of the Student Association promoting and supervising all extra-curricular activities. The Cabinet is composed of the President, Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer of the Student Association, the chairman of eleven standing committees, the Senate President and Executive Secretary.

While the past year has been a difficult one financially, the Cabinet has cut its budget and still continues to be a real source of influence in campus life.

Credit is due to the various committee chairmen and their committees for the excellent manner in which they have carried on a splendid program throughout the year. Recognition should also be made of the splendid guidance and help of Mr. Doyle F. Parsons.

THE SENATE

THE Senate is the official organization through which all disciplinary action of the Student Association is administered. It is the executive body which enforces the traditions of the college, and sets up rules and regulations regarding campus behavior. It should be understood that besides the work done in the Senate chamber, the individual Senators do personal work among the students.

This season the Senate has been working on the setting up of an Honor System and has also abolished the Freshman Initiation.

The Senate has charge of the interclass scraps, rope-pull, and cane-rush. The members of the Senate, five Seniors, four Juniors and one Sophomore, are elected by the student body. Various sub-committees headed by the Senators are organized to deal with specific problems arising in the student body.

STUDENT-FACULTY HOUSE COMMITTEE

THE House Committee and the group of house counsellors coöperate in seeking to maintain in the dormitories, conditions favorable to good fellowship, effective study, and satisfactory living. The system was established as an experiment two years ago and continues on that basis, although with increasing assurance with regard to the effectiveness of its work.

Since the beginning, it has been the intention of the House Committee and counsellors to operate with a minimum of formal regulations, seeking to establish standards and exert control through suggestion and through reliance upon the coöperation of that great majority of students who want the best in dormitory life. In spite of the fact that certain factors make it difficult to secure results on the basis of this policy and in spite of occasional suggestions that it should be replaced by a policy of "blood and iron," there is no likelihood at the present, of a change.

While the committee and counselors realize that the ideal dormitory conditions will never be possible until one hundred percent of the dormitory residents wish them, they are glad to have an active share in working towards that goal.

PHYSICAL DEPARTMENT COMMITTEE

THIS group controls the athletic program of the Student Association and is composed of seven students, one of them being the Chairman, who is elected at the annual elections. The Committee is under the guidance of the Faculty Manager of Athletics, H. S. DeGroat, who supervises the arranging of schedules, the publicity of games and athletic contests, and approves all athletic contracts.

The Committee controls all sports and all teams, making up a budget for them which is financed by an appropriation from the Student Association budget. All recommendations for letters, charms, certificates and numerals, as well as managerial appointments, are subject to the final ratification by the Physical Committee. Under their supervision comes the problems of announcing eligibility rules for those who desire to wear the emblems of the College. It also controls the cheer-leaders and runs off all inter-class sports.

In the past few years the Physical Committee has put through several outstanding reforms, including the removal of discrimination between major and minor sports, the awarding of only a major letter, and the awarding of the privilege to have sweaters with knitted-in letters upon earning a letter.

STORE COMMITTEE

THE Store Committee has charge of all campus concessions, receiving all applications, investigating these offers and accepting those which are beneficial to the students. The committee also has the power to cancel any concession which does not prove satisfactory and to limit the number of concessions granted.

The Student Store comes under the jurisdiction of this committee. The store is open every weekday from 12 noon until 2 o'clock and from 5 to 7 o'clock in the evening. The daily mail delivery is also distributed at the store office.

It is through the store committee that the students are able to buy the best at the lowest possible cost.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

REALIZING the necessity of social activities to help a student round out his personality, the Social Committee has been on the alert to provide students an opportunity to develop the social side of life. In so far as Springfield College is not co-educational, the programs promoted have met with gratifying response.

Monthly dances have been held and during the year three sports formals were held. The committee is also responsible for the annual Alumni Homecoming Dance.

Bridge tournaments and ping-pong tournaments have also come under the jurisdiction of the committee.

Recognition should be made of the members of the faculty and their wives who have so graciously chaperoned the social affairs and also to Madame Jackson for her helpful assistance at all times.

JUNIOR PROM COMMITTEE

THE social highlight looked forward to with eagerness and happy expectation is the Junior Prom. This social function is sponsored by the Junior Class each year in honor of the Seniors. Only the two upper classes and faculty members are permitted to attend.

This year the Junior Prom Committee, under the leadership of Hubert Hill, has been working constantly to make the Junior Prom week-end one of the most enjoyable that has been held. No amount of time and effort has been spared by the committee in creating a most delightful program for both classes and their lady friends.

DRAMATICS COMMITTEE

UNDER the capable leadership of Professor William T. Simpson the Dramatic Committee finds itself taking an important part in college life.

During the year several one act plays were put on under the leadership of the "Chief" and student interest is marked by the manner in which they received the work of the dramatic group. All efforts of the season were focused on the Annual Prom Play. The play presented in 1933 was "Tons of Money" and was voted a huge success.

Real praise is due Professor Simpson for his untiring efforts in furthering dramatic programs in the college.

The Springfield Student is the weekly publication of the student body. It keeps the news of the campus before the students and attempts to direct the interest into worthwhile channels. Its policy is to criticize where criticism is necessary; introduce new policies when they appear beneficial to the making of a better Springfield and give credit when credit is due.

The paper wields strong influence on the campus because it is the only mouthpiece of the Student Association. It is also a member of the Eastern Intercollegiate Newspaper Association.

DEBATING

THE Debating Society has just gone through another successful year. Under the direction of Coach Dr. J. Berg Esenwein, a Freshman team was organized, as well as an excellent Varsity. During the Fall term two formal debates were held with Tufts College in the lobby of the Springfield Y. M. C. A., and with Conn. State at Storrs. During the Winter term, the wordsters met with Hobart, Mass. State, Boston University, New Hampshire, and Vermont. In the Spring term an equally hard group, consisting of the West Springfield Community Forum, Bay Path, American International College, Mount Holyoke College, and the Stone College in New Haven, was met.

One of the interesting features of the Debating Society was a debate held in Convocation, February 13, with Massachusetts State College. Two of the debates were broadcast over WMAS, and WICC.

It is hoped that the spirit that has grown up in debating during the past year will continue, and will in a short time become one of the most influential, and outstanding activities on the college campus.

MUSIC COMMITTEE

THE Glee Club, Entertainment Club, Band and School Orchestra all comprise a part of the Music Committee. The Maroon and White Serenaders have now been intact for five years. It plays at all the college social dances and is given a high intercollegiate rating. This year it has been under the leadership of "Deke" who will turn it over to "Gus" Anderton for next year's leadership.

The Glee Club under the capable leadership of Madam Shirley Jackson has been doing an excellent piece of work, and comes under the direct control of the Music Committee. The entertainment club was not reorganized until this winter. It is made up of a group who provide entertainment at forums and similar meetings.

For all the home football games and also the Brown, New Hampshire, and Holy Cross games the band was present, giving us all that it had in order to create added spirit at the games. "Bert" Hill should be highly commended on his fine work. This year a move was started to have the band organized throughout the year, playing at basketball games and track meets. Each member will receive a semester hour credit. If this is carried out Springfield should have bigger and better bands in the future.

This year Frank Russell took it upon himself to organize a Springfield Symphony Orchestra which will accompany the Glee Club. This is a great undertaking and deserves highest coöperation of all those students that play musical instruments.

GLEE CLUB

GREATER heights in the realm of concert work were attained by the Springfield College Glee Club this year. From the small nucleus of last year's membership a larger and stronger club was organized. Particular emphasis should be placed upon the unusually large Freshman representation in the club this year. The class of '37 is outstanding in the artistic abilities of its members.

If the organization of 1933 was singularly unique in having individual solo work both vocal and instrumental featured with every performance, 1934 marked the advent of a group which, as a whole, had a diction, tonal quality and unity par excellence.

Once more the members of the Glee Club pay tribute to their director Madame Shirley Jackson whose great knowledge of vocal and choral music is reflected in the present club.

RELIGIOUS COMMITTEE

DURING the last few years a change in emphasis in campus interest has taken place; campus problems and issues have in a major way given place to interests in world issues and their relationship to the individual life. With this in mind the Religious Committee in coöperation with other campus groups has provided programs that help to create the type of personality and campus life that Springfield is proud of.

The Religious Committee has shared in the promotion of the Student Union, which has brought some notable speakers to this college. Delegates have attended conferences promoted by Student Federation, the League for Industrial Democracy, The National Student in Politics and the Wesleyan Conference. Deputation teams have been sent to various churches in this vicinity.

THE HANDBOOK

THE incoming Freshman class each year is presented with a small book, known as the Handbook. This book, which is compiled by a group of Springfield students, has a definite purpose. New men coming on the Springfield campus must in some way be acquainted with the history, organizations, activities, traditions, and ideals of the school. The Handbook is intended to fulfill this purpose.

The Handbook staff has endeavored this year to make this edition more useful and significant by the elimination of antiquated sections and the addition of newer and more pertinent material. The new edition shows that they deserve a great deal of commendation on their successful work.

THE Varsity Club is an organization for men who have earned their major letter at Springfield College. It was organized for the purpose of encouraging high ideals of sportsmanship in athletics and to give its united support to all college activities.

Because of its nature, the members of the Varsity Club are necessarily a selected group, and membership is considered an honor among those gaining a major "S".

From a club organized purely from the athletic side, the Varsity Club has expanded and included social and literary activities, which are essential to the full development of any individual.

THE ideals and objectives of the Cosmopolitan Club did not remain within the campus during 1933-34. Never before in the short history of this organization has greater fellowship been achieved with the nearby colleges, particularly Smith, Mt. Holyoke, Amherst, and Mass. State.

Hardly a month of the school year passed which did not mark a combined party being held at one or the other of the schools. On December 9, 1933, a Cabaret Party was held in Carlisle Foyer. This was the social highlight for the year. One hundred and eighty people were present including fifty of our own faculty. A number of faculty members of the above colleges was present and presented five-minute speeches on subjects dealing with world affairs.

An unusually large number of applications for membership was received during the year which demonstrates that our students are seeking knowledge of world affairs other than their own.

MAROON KEY SOCIETY

ONE only has to look at the imposing schedule of home games played by our Varsity teams to recognize the part played by the Maroon Key Society on our campus.

Visiting teams are met by members of the society and are made to feel at home on the Springfield Campus, thereby creating a friendly feeling toward Springfield on the part of visiting teams of other colleges.

The members of the Maroon Key Society are "key" men and open up the doors of Springfield and incidentally learn what is going on in other colleges. This society is without a doubt one of the organizations that really accomplish something on our campus.

PUBLICATIONS BOARD

THE Publications Board is made up of the Editorial and Business heads of the three publications on campus, namely, the Student, the MASSASOIT and the Handbook, two members at large, the Executive Secretary of the Association, the Faculty Manager of Athletics and the professor of the course in journalism.

The duties are:

- 1—To recommend to Cabinet an Editor and Business Manager for the Handbook.
- 2—To act upon any matter which directly concerns any publication on campus.
Such action is subject to approval of the Cabinet.
- 3—To control the solicitation of all campus advertising for campus activities.
- 4—To review difficulties and grievances between staff members of any publication.
- 5—To approve the selection of publication staff members.
- 6—To approve all publication awards.

For next year the Publications Board has reorganized the appointment of the MASSASOIT Staff, enabling Freshmen and Sophomores to work on compiling the Year Book. This does not in any way take the control of the book out of the hands of the Junior Class but does enable men to gain experience during the first two years at college, thereby better fitting them to take over the important task of issuing the MASSASOIT.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS COMMITTEE

THE special function of this committee is to maintain and foster a steadily increasing interest among the undergraduates in affairs of an international character. Coöperation with the Cosmopolitan Club and with other organized groups in pursuing a unified balanced campus program of social and intellectual activities has been its aim this year. Through this committee the students are in contact with the other International Relations Clubs, with the Model League of Nations Assembly, and with the Foreign Policy Association. One of the finest pieces of work carried on by this group is the raising of the annual International Fund which enables two selected members of the Sophomore Class to spend their Junior year in study in Geneva, Switzerland.

MAROON AND WHITE SERENADERS

FOR a number of years there has been a dance orchestra on campus. There has always been good material for an orchestra and this year that material has been organized under the able leadership of Henry Di Clementi who has done his best to turn out a group worthy of upholding the traditions of the Maroon and White Serenaders in music circles.

With the exception of the Junior Prom, the Maroon and White Serenaders play for every campus dance and have taken an important place in the social life of the college.

BASEBALL

VARSIITY BASEBALL

GLOWING words of praise for what was well done and multifarious excuses for what was not accomplished might succeed in veneering the facts concerning the 1932 baseball season. A resulting summary by this method might make a pleasing picture for the casual reader, but such rationalization would give but little satisfaction to a Springfield man. Also, it might give the impression of a reluctance on our part to "take" our losses with our wins. We, of Springfield, recognize that in every competition someone must win and someone must lose. We also know that we cannot always be the winner. Last spring our baseball team was less successful than other teams have been in the past. Ten of the fourteen games played were lost. Although disappointed we are not ashamed of this record. It is our record, but as such, we confidently feel it will well serve only as a measurement of our future successes.

Coach DeGroat was greeted at the first practice session of the year by a squad containing comparatively few veterans. "Bob" Brown was the only hold-over from last year's infield and from a dearth of green material Coach DeGroat had to uncover three competent guardians of the outfield. Co-captain Purrington was back at his job behind the plate breaking in a new staff of pitchers which had to be built around the veteran, Parker.

Before long a fast, smart infield was brought together which had Brown back at first, Co-captain Wells holding down second, Wetterling in the shortstop position and Lewis at third. This combination proved quite successful defensively and remained intact for the whole season. Elliot and Hemmerick were the new hurlers to take the slab along with Parker, and this trio toiled hard for Springfield throughout the fourteen games. Purrington was assisted behind the bat by Scott, and the garden was well patrolled by Ober, Deane and Rapuzzi.

The initial start of the 1932 nine was at New Haven against the powerful Yale team. Our team played well and were able to hold their opponents to an 8-4 score. The next game against the C. C. N. Y. tossers was lost by a close margin although our outfit played the better brand of ball. The New York team committed seven errors in the field and was held even in the hitting, each team garnering eight singles.

Springfield's premier home appearance was marred by a surprise defeat at the hands of a team from Lowell Textile. Loose fielding by our team and timely hitting by the Tech nine resulted in a 5-3 score. Wetterling at short produced the prize play of the afternoon by a sensational stop of Jurewicz's hot liner. "Ed" Lewis

COACH DeGROAT, WILSON, HORSLEY, WHITCOMB, GREENE, OBER, ELLIOT, MASON, SCOTT, KNEEDLER, HENDRICKSON, WARNER, GOVONI, WOOD
KAMINSKY, WETTERLING, RAPUZZI, HEMERICK, CAPTAIN PURRINGTON, CAPTAIN WELLS, PARKER, BROWN, LEWIS, DEANE

also performed well before the home fans. In the next start with Providence, who were the Eastern Intercollegiate Champions, Springfield ran up against an opponent of the first rank and received a 17-1 drubbing.

In back of some sterling pitching by Parker, the DeGroatmen finally broke into the winning column in its fifth game played with St. Michaels. A gala day was had at the plate by the entire Maroon team, sixteen safeties being annexed before the game was over. The final score was 9-1. Two more games were dropped to Vermont and Mass. State respectively before our team came through with another win. The latter defeat at the hands of Mass. State was especially bitter, being decisive and administered on our home diamond. Ober's brilliant play in the field was the only redeeming feature of the afternoon.

Our next win, a 2-1 victory, was at the expense of the New Hampshire nine. The game was close and well played throughout. "Bill" Hemmerick did excellent work in the pitcher's box holding the "Wildcats" to five scattered hits. On our trip down to Lowell, the Textile outfit managed again to beat us by a close margin. Elliot did some fine relief work but the late rally of the Springfield team fell short of tying the game. The next game prove to be disappointing. Because of loose playing, a previously defeated St. Michaels team was permitted to go home with a victory.

Another close game was wrested from us by the Amherst combine. The teams divided the batting honors each securing seven hits. But Amherst bunched their hits to send one more man across the plate than Springfield could get home. The spectacular plays of the game were capped by a shoe-string catch by Co-captain Wells. Springfield due to superior fielding deserved better than the short end of the 3-2 score. Losses to opponents who do not show a better brand of ball than ours are the only incidents that evoke valid regret. The defeat by Holy Cross certainly did not fall in this category. They had an admittedly superior team and the Maroon nine played "heads-up-ball" although defeated, 7-0.

The schedule was completed in a gratifying manner by a victory in a "slugfest" over the strong Conn. State team. Parker closed his collegiate baseball career by holding his adversaries hitless and scoreless after relieving Elliot in the sixth. The entire team contributed to the making of sixteen hits that were hammered from the offerings of three Conn. State pitchers. The game marked the close of the athletic careers of several outstanding athletes; Purrington had been a tower of strength behind the bat for several seasons; Wells' colorful figure will be missed around second base; Wetterling will be hard to replace at short and the youthful hurlers will have a job on their hands to emulate some of Parker's performances.

Next spring, Captain-elect Deane, Lewis, Ober, Elliot, Travis, Scott and Mason with additions from the freshman squad will work with Coach DeGroat to bring baseball at Springfield back to its former high standing.

VARSIITY TRACK

ANOTHER one of Coach Jack Rothacher's splendid track teams ran for the Maroon during the spring of '32. Captained by "Red" Shaw, who was the best hurdler produced at Springfield in recent years, the tracksters broke even in the four meets held against powerful opponents. Credit for this notable showing must be awarded to the brilliant performances of our dash men and the record breaking work in the field events.

Many of the veterans from last year continued their former habits of point annexing for Springfield. The spectators were thrilled by tests of speed between Wheeler and Haight which left their opponents struggling for third place. Time and again Captain Shaw's classic form over the hurdles wore down his adversary leaving "Red" with the "extra bit" for the last twenty yards to the tape. Holden also could be counted on for a frequent place in the hurdles. In the weight events our big three—Fowler, Hawkes and Smith, took turns holding out against all comers. Smith also found time to contribute the five points awarded for the blue ribbon high jump. Colorful and consistent work was done in the pole vault by Farmer, MacKensie and Simons. Tilden and Bigelow provided their share of the thrills that usually go with the middle distance runs, and Miller with but little support did good work in the long distances.

The team's first test was against Wesleyan at Middlebury. There, after a splendid meet under ideal conditions, Springfield emerged victorious 83 $\frac{2}{3}$ to 46 $\frac{1}{3}$. The meet marked the advent of a new varsity star, Stuart Parks, who startled the crowd with a broad jump of 23 feet $\frac{7}{8}$ inches. Leon Smith started the season off with a bang by taking first in both the shotput and the discus. An additional place in the high jump gave Smith thirteen points to tie him with Parks for top honors.

The next week saw the Maroon contesting the powerful University of Maine track team on their home track. All the events were close but the failure of our runners to place in any above the quarter mile accounts for our defeat, 55 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 79 $\frac{1}{2}$. Our sprinters—Wheeler, Haight and Parks were superb and Hawks proved to be a thorn in the side of the Maine strong men. "Red" Shaw had a great day over the sticks and his running mate, Holden, helped to keep most of the points for these events in the Springfield column. It was a long trip up there and the stormy weather that our boys encountered off the rocky shores of Maine proved quite as competitive as the Maine runners.

Returning to Pratt Field the following week, Coach Rothacher's charges redeemed themselves by forcing their opponent, Northeastern University, to accept the small end of a 79 to 56 score. Although defeated, the runners from Boston extended our men to record-breaking performances. It was an afternoon of countless thrills long to be remembered by visitors to our "white walls". First, Parks ran a terrific 440 to break a longstanding record held by Grimeshaw of '26. Park's time was 50.1 seconds. Shortly after this the crowd was again brought to its feet by a spectacular finish in the 880 by Bigelow, who passed three Northeastern men in the home stretch to win the race. Meanwhile in the discus circle Fowler was being spurred to greater efforts by Milbrandt, Northeastern's premier weight man. This struggle of giants resulted in a new record for the discus throw of 130 feet 1½ inches, made by Fowler. No great surprise was felt when over in the high jumping pit, Leon Smith accomplished what he had been threatening to do all season, namely, the setting of a new height for future jumpers to attempt to reach in years to come—6 feet 2½ inches.

This single appearance on the home track of our '33 team stamped it as a worthy representative of Springfield in Intercollegiate track and field. Fresh from this home victory, the tracksters were sent to Boston to compete in the New England Intercollegiate Championships. There our runners failed to do quite as well as was expected of them, garnering only 7 points. Five of these were made by Wheeler by virtue of a first place in the 100 yard dash. This well-earned victory climaxed a fine career on the cinder path. During his years of varsity competition, "Rudy" rightfully has won his place among the elite of college sprinters in this section and Coach Rothacher will find "Rudy's" shoes hard to fill. Hawkes with a throw of 165 feet earned a fourth place in the javelin and Smith tossed the discus 136 feet for another fourth, completing Springfield's scoring.

The team closed its season against University of New Hampshire at Durham. Again it was weakness in the middle distance runs that caused our downfall. The strong "Wildcat" aggregation was victorious, 79½ to 55½. First place winners for Springfield were Shaw in the high hurdles, Wheeler in the hundred, Parks in the quarter mile, Hawkes in the hammer throw and Smith in the high jump and discuss.

The New Hampshire meet marked the hanging up of the old spikes for many good Springfield men. The loss of Captain Shaw, Hawkes, Fowler, Wheeler, Holden, Simons, Cate, Cook and Cranston will be keenly felt next spring when Springfield starts to build a team for the strenuous schedule that will lie ahead. Outstanding on this schedule are the coveted New England Championships which are to be held at Springfield in 1934.

As a nucleus Coach Rothacher will have the letter men Haight, Parks, Tilden, Farmer, Bigelow and Captain-elect Smith.

VARSIITY LACROSSE

THE task that confronted our newly appointed coach, Leo Netter, in the spring of 1933 was decidedly unencouraging. The formidable teams representing Army, Yale, Tufts, Williams, New Hampshire, Dartmouth and Brown had to be faced on successive Saturdays. To make matters more difficult, the Co-captains Randall and Roberts were supported by only a handful of veterans—Stanton, Chisholm, Lewis, Mear, Relyea, Linton and Boynton. But for lacrosse men the strenuous holds no novelty: therefore Coach Netter and his charges went about their job in a business like manner. The result was an almost even break in a schedule that seemed impossible.

Long before the frost had left the ground the enthusiasts were seen in front of Alumni Hall practicing throws and catches with those "queer contraptions" which are the sole defense of the would-be star at lacrosse. At an early date, Coach Netter's call for candidates was answered by an eager and large squad. This shows the steady growth of the ancient Indian game's popularity in collegiate circles.

After a brief period of preparation, our team crossed the Hudson to the West Point camp to grapple with the powerful Army team, who already had two overwhelming victories to her credit. The Army's attack clicked too smoothly for our boys and we had to be content with the small end of the score. Fine net play by Palisoul in the second half prevented the Army from scoring their usual 14 or 16 goals. Goals for Springfield by Roberts, Travis and Townsend prevented the match from being a complete shut-out. Valuable experience was acquired by our men on this trip, experience that was to prove helpful during the strenuous schedule that followed.

The next week, in Yale, another strong team was faced at New Haven. This time the errors of the previous week's play were not committed and so well did both teams play that the contest was not decided until the last ten seconds of the game. It was a close, hard game, 5-4, and a "heart-breaker" to lose. With a few of the breaks going our way the game would have been ours. But that is the way in sports and our team will have to wait another year to annex this coveted victory. Despite our defeat, Randall and Lewis were conspicuous that afternoon on the field of play, executing timely passes that constantly resulted in drives on the Yale goal.

After the game with "Eli" our lacrosse men hit their stride. At Medford the Tufts team was met and defeated 9-2. During no period of the play were the "Jumbos" able to cope with the Maroon's aggressive team play. The Springfield defense had an exceptionally good afternoon, their opponents scoring only two goals. Rist and Stanton turned in some of their best work of the season. Townsend and Lewis continued to demonstrate their scoring potentialities, and they were ably assisted by two clever goals by Boynton.

Having found the sensation of winning much to their liking, Springfield then used Williams to satisfy their newly acquired desire. After the melee, the score stood 13-3, in our favor. Coach Netter's painstaking work with the team's offense was rewarded with a fast passing attack that could not be solved by the "Upstaters." A new high scorer in the person of Robertson was uncovered and Co-Captain Roberts played his difficult position at center with his usual skill and speed.

The following Saturday our old foe, the "Wildcats" from New Hampshire, was engaged on our home grounds. The New Hampshire outfit, wishing to retaliate for last year's loss, started off with a bang. Before long a concentrated attack on their goal evened the score. From then on the game was all Springfield's and three more goals were netted before the final whistle called a halt to one more taming of the "Wildead". A 4-1 victory was ours.

Although the match with Dartmouth will go down in the record as a defeat, it was the outstanding performance of the season for our lacrosse team. Dartmouth, the winners of the New England Lacrosse Championships, was put to a severe test before the termination of the game placed their undefeated record out of danger. The issue was not settled until the closing minutes of the last period. The game was played for the most part in driving rain which slowed down both teams considerably. But the dismal weather found no counterpart in the spirited play of the rivals. The Maroon team that left Hanover that night were the objects of a well earned respect.

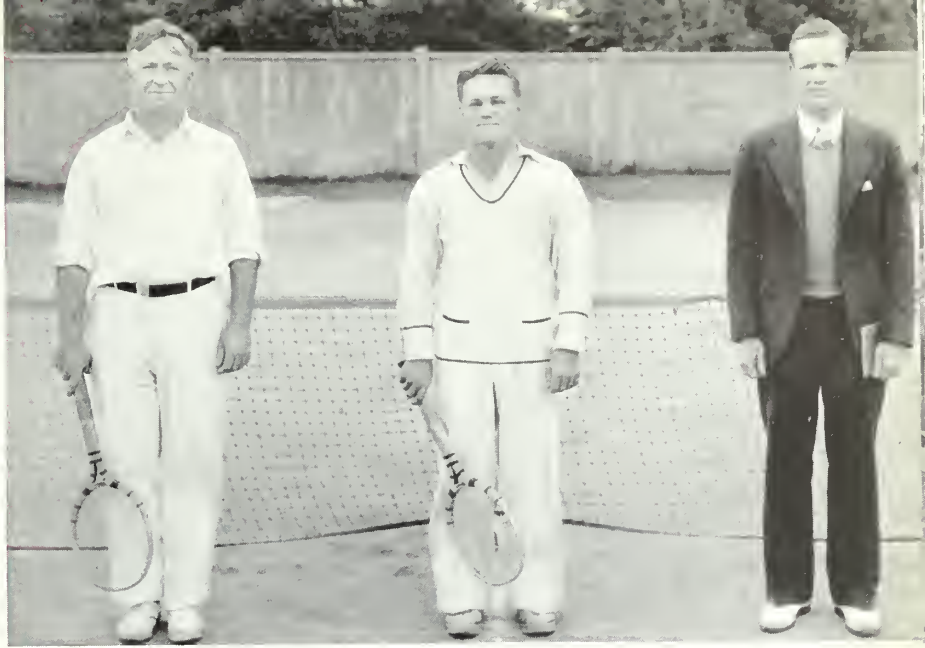

The last game of the season was with Brown at Providence. The Brown "Bears" presented an attack that threw Springfield off-balance in the early stages of the game. The opponents garnered three goals before the Maroon stick-handlers could dominate the play. Although the Nettermen closed with a rush, they could not overcome Brown's early lead. The final score was 4-3.

The following Seniors were awarded the "S" for their faithful work: Co-Captains Randall and Roberts, Stanton, Meade, Boynton and Chisholm. The remaining lettermen—Captains-elect Townsend and Rist, Roberts, Relyea, Robertson, Charton, Lewis, Martyn, Linton, Palisoul, Kosiba, Koch and Smith, will be back to form another strong team next spring.

VARSIITY TENNIS

IN ALL sports, Springfield teams have much in the way of tradition to uphold. Our tennis teams are not, and have not been, exceptions to this rule. In fact, the tennis cohorts of former years have performed so well that it becomes increasingly hard for each new combine to live up to what is expected of it. In the season of '32, the racquet-wielders were unusually successful, winning eleven of the twelve matches contested. To emulate this record was the expressed desire of the large 1933 squad that answered Coach Brock's call in the West Gymnasium during the windy days of March. That they accomplished their purpose is told by the commendable record of six wins and one loss.

Numbered among the candidates were the veterans: Captain Hughes, Parks, Miller and Ainsworth. Despite poor facilities, the squad was rapidly whipped into good condition and, as soon as weather permitted, they were outdoors practicing their shots on the clay courts and perfecting the fundamentals that are so necessary in this game of precision.

As our first opponent of the season, Providence College was engaged at Pratt Field. The thoroughness of the team's preparation was demonstrated by the winning of six of the nine matches. Two of the losses were in the doubles, which was excusable as the two combinations were newly formed and had not had sufficient experience together. The five wins in the singles showed promising strength in that department of play. Hughes was particularly brilliant, winning from his opponent with the loss of only one game. Other winners were Parks, Ainsworth, Miller and Thompson.

This auspicious start was continued in the next match against Clark University. All the matches were swept before the irrepressible racquets of our team. Again, Captain Hughes displayed his faultless tennis, easily defeating Graham of Clark 6-0, 6-3. All the other men, with the exception of Parks, won in straight sets.

The next week-end found our team primed for their match with Worcester Polytech, only to have the match cancelled because of rain.

On the following Friday the New York State Teachers College brought a strong group of net men to our campus. The games were all closely contended for, but the winning tennis of our team would not be denied. All of our players played a forcing game, giving the team its third straight victory, 8-1. Rupp won an especially hard-fought match from Hughes of the New York team. The first two sets were deuce, the first going to the New Yorker and Bob winning the second. In the third set Bob's superior stamina and steadiness won out, giving him the match, 7-9, 7-5, 6-2. The veteran combinations of Hughes and Parks, Ainsworth and Thompson were aided in the garnering of points by the new doubles team made up of Mantell and C. Miller.

Springfield's fourth victory of the season was gained at the expense of Assumption College. The expected strength of the Assumption racqueteers proved to be assumptive or legendary and the Brockmen had little difficulty returning home with a 7-0 victory.

In the next home match the varsity netsters turned in one of its finest performances of the spring to upset the Boston College coterie. The final score of the afternoon's series of matches, which numbered several trying games, was 8-1 in Springfield's favor. Ainsworth through dint of superior volleying was able to pull out ahead in a close match and add to the wins of Hughes, Parks, Miller, Rupp and Mantell in the singles. The other points were by virtue of Hughes and Parks, and Miller and Mantell winning their doubles matches.

The next opponent to be swept aside by our onrushing team was Conn. State. The Staters proved to be no match for our men in court generalship and the varsity struck its way to a 9-0 victory. Particularly noteworthy was the doubles play of the Springfield men who combined effective serving with stellar net play. This victory marked the sixth win of the season.

If the next and last match with Williams had not been payed, our varsity tennis team would have had an undefeated season. But the upholding of Springfield tradition means more than the mere winning of games. Our fine record had not been compiled by the selecting of opponents, and it was not to be maintained by this method. Although victorious in its previous matches, our team was aware that in Williams they faced a foe of the first rank. They traveled up to the northern part of the state with the anticipation of a great match and the determination to extend the Williams' men to the utmost. It was a great match. The ranking Horton found in Hughes one of his stiffest opponents of the season. After a terrific struggle "Sid" went down to a glorious defeat. This was the first time that Captain Hughes had failed to win his match this year. All of our other men proved as redoubtable carrying their matches to deuce sets before losing. The final score 9-0 was only indicative of the well balanced strength of our opponents who had earlier in the season won the Eastern Intercollegiate Championships. It wasn't a defeat that we are ashamed of, and it certainly did not mar the record of a tennis season that Springfield is proud of.

Captain Sidney Hughes was re-elected Captain and varsity letters were earned by Hughes, Parks, Ainsworth, Miller, Rupp, Thompson and Mantell. As Ainsworth and Miller are the only regulars lost by graduation, the prospects of a good year are especially bright.

VARSIY FOOTBALL

IT is a beautiful Indian Summer's day. Riotous color of apparel and joyous sound of greetings vie with the weather in adding a festive aura to the crowd that is filling the stands. Permeating the scene is a peculiar feeling of expectancy—or anticipation. For a moment a vibrant hush is felt. Then—thud—down the field gracefully sails the pigskin. Thud—in a thousand hearts throughout the land memories long dormant surge forth. Memories of other games, other stars, other girls, other crowds—all are awakened as the 1933-34 college year is heralded in by the great intercollegiate game of football.

The managerial staff at Springfield must have had access to the Sibylline books, for, while everyone else was still in the depths of depression, Springfield headed optimistically for bigger and better times by attempting the hardest football schedule of recent years. On successive Saturdays: Stroudsburg, Alleghany, Brown, Providence, St. Thomas, Rutgers, New Hampshire, and Holy Cross had to be faced. Understanding the seriousness of their task, the candidates reported to Coach Rothacher in good shape two weeks before the official opening of school. It was immediately evident that, with Matheson being the only man with experience at the tackle position, the coach's big job was to unearth material to fill these crucial positions. Also, with Brown and Hawks of last year's backfield missing, new ball-carriers had to be found before the Maroon were prepared to take the field against first-class opposition. As the team was quite light, Coach Rothacher planned to stress speed, deception and precision to offset this disadvantage. The wisdom of these methods was demonstrated by the brilliant performances of our own against vastly heavier opponents.

At the beginning of the season, the veterans Smith and Rogers filled the end positions. The tackle assignments fell to Matheson and Kosiba, and the rapid improvement of MacNeil soon augmented the team's strength at this position. The four lettermen, Cooper, Seferian, Kodis, and Connors, made the guard position a bulwark of strength for our footballers, and the scrappy Kaminsky capably filled the shoes of the "Elliotts," "Thompsons," and "Quirks" of the past. In the backfield the veterans, Captain Shields and Sid Hughes, performed well, and their efforts were strongly supplemented by the hard work of the Juniors, Brown and Gavoni. Greene, Cushing, Keith, Allen, Charton, and Parks were some of the men who added considerably to the total ground gained.

The 1933 season was inaugurated by a 20-to-0 victory over Stroudsburg at Pratt Field. The Stroudsburg team was heavy and aggressive, but it was not able to cope with the deceptive style of football that Springfield was ready to display. The first half presented the usual drab play that marks most opening games. But the Maroon eleven found itself in the second half, and things began to pop. "Ed" Greene and "Lance" Cooper, playing alert football, both intercepted opponent's passes and converted them into touchdowns. Gavoni made the other score by a short buck which climaxed a long march down the field, the ball being placed in a scoring position by a sensational pass from Shields to Smith.

The team had its assignments well learned by the following Saturday so that its first trip to the western foothills of the Allegheny Mountains proved to be highly successful. In Shields, Gavoni, and Hughes, the Blue and Gold encountered a trio of hard-running backs that would not be stopped. As our line constantly kept the Allegheny men in check, Coach Rothacher was able to give many of the inexperienced men a chance to show their wares. After the Springfield avalanche of spinners, double reverses, and passes had subsided, the score stood 27 to 0.

The third game found the Maroon eleven at Providence paying its respects to the "Big Brown Bear." It was a banner game in many respects. For the second consecutive year Springfield played the "Bruin" off its feet only to find itself on the short end of a 13-6 score at the end of the fray. But this disappointment was drowned in the happy revival of a school spirit that until then had been lacking. The student body as a unit spurred the team on to an achievement that will not be soon forgotten. The ball-toting of Captain Shields against this major opponent stamped him as a great footballer. This and succeeding performances by Shields gained for him high recognition in New England and all-American circles.

If there is anything proverbial about the Providence team it is that they are "tough." By this is meant that they always have a heavy line that plays a hard-charging, aggressive game of football. Therefore, the work of the Springfield line on October 14 cannot be praised too highly. Too often the arduous work of the lineman is overlooked in favor of the more spectacular backfield play. Yet, although outweighed by twenty pounds our forward wall held its own throughout the contest, and, in the closing minutes, it was a lineman, MacNeil, who intercepted a pass to place the ball on the two-yard stripe in position for a Springfield touchdown.

Some pre-season dopesters had labelled the game with St. Thomas as a "breather." Fate is ironical; St. Thomas not only brought to Pratt Field one of the strongest aggregations that the Rothachermen had to meet all season, but also the Catholic School turned out to be one of the few undefeated teams in the country. The game was hard fought, both teams repeatedly having to resort to punting. Springfield's score was by virtue of a beautifully executed lateral from Shields to Hughes. Our try for goal was missed and this point was the margin of our defeat, 7-6.

The next game of the season was with the powerful Rutgers team. The sustained effort that the team had made against major opponents was followed by a letdown in the team's play. The Maroon charges were listless and lacked the customary drive that had been present all season. This 31-6 score was the only disappointing feature of a fine record.

At New Hampshire the team showed an improved brand of ball, but it failed to demonstrate the type of play characteristic of the work in the Brown game. This was partly due to the fact that Captain Shields, Gavoni, MacNeil and Smith were forced to the side line by injuries. The scoring punch was lacking and the resultant 0-to-0 tie was far from being satisfactory.

The remaining game of the season was played with Holy Cross at Fitton Field in Worcester. Although Holy Cross has not been on our schedule for several years, they are old rivals, and the Rothacher men went to Worcester with the expressed purpose of showing them that the Maroon team can play major football. The Maroon team returned from Worcester the same afternoon with that purpose accomplished. The mighty Holy Cross team was given a real score plus a lesson in how football should be played. In Captain Shields the Holy Cross fans witnessed the outstanding visiting ball carrier of the season. It was only by a desperate last-period rally that Holy Cross was able to beat off the impending defeat.

Such was the fitting manner in which our 1933 football team closed its season. Of this team many players will be graduated next June, outstanding among whom are Shields, Hughes, Matheson, Kaminsky, Seferian, Smith and Connors. "Lance" Cooper was selected to lead the 1934 team. Springfield, carry on!

VARSIITY SOCCER

THE fine soccer teams coached by Coach Brock at Springfield are traditional. Every year after completing a schedule of hard games the records disclose Springfield at the top of the list. Close followers of the game attribute this success to the excellent team-work that is instilled into successive teams by Coach Brock. Although the 1933 season did not promise to be outstanding, it can be recorded as another banner year for the soccer team. Of the seven games played only one was lost and one ended in a tie. Once more Springfield knocked at the door of the National Soccer Championships.

The graduations last June were exceptionally hard on the soccer team as eleven lettermen received their diplomas at that time. Also, in answer to Coach Brock's call in the Fall four lettermen, Roberts, Lewis, Dox and Robertson, were found to be on hand. But fortunately this number was augmented by several good players from last year's Frosh outfit. Nevertheless it was quite a task that faced the Maroon mentor as he took up his yearly duties.

After several weeks of preparatory work, the 1933 squad swung into action against a willing team from Stroudsburg. Right from the start this team, which was built around Roberts, Lewis and Robertson, showed plenty of promise. The first-mentioned two accounted for the three goals scored. They were assisted by the passwork of the Sophomores, Smith, Norton, Ferguson and Graham. Two other new men, Bisson and Rees, were outstanding on the defense and Hughes performed ably at goalie position. The final score was 3 to 1.

The next game with Army was an important one, as the Cadets can always be counted on to have a powerful team. They were anxious to win this game, as Springfield had defeated them in a close match at the last meeting between the two teams. It was a close contest for the first three periods, the Maroonmen tallying in the opening quarter and the Soldiers evening the score in the third period. But in the last period our soccerites hit their stride and pushed over three more goals to insure victory. This 4-to-1 defeat was the Cadets' first loss in two seasons on their home grounds.

The contest at Hanover the following Saturday resulted in the third straight victory of the season for the Brock-Netter coached clan. It was a bitterly fought match and the Dartmouth Indians did not accept defeat until the closing minutes of play. The only goal of the day was due to the combined aggressiveness of Lewis and Robertson, who followed up Robert's kick with such vigor that the Dartmouth goalie was forced to yield a goal. The defensive work of Rees, Haight, Ferguson, Cella, Monroe and Hughes was instrumental in staving off numerous attacks on our goal.

In the next home game the on-rushing Fitchburg team was stopped up short by a 6 to 3 score. This game was a beautiful illustration of the superiority of the short passing game over the long-kicking type of play. To the delight of the spectators the Maroon team exhibited a well-groomed passwork that baffled her opponents. The Springfield forwards were very swift in bringing the ball up the field and their centering and shooting "left nothing to be asked." Particularly accurate were the corner shots that were taken, two of them being converted into goals. As usual Co-Captains Roberts and Lewis were very prominent in the scoring. Haight and Cella did a good job feeding the forward line. But the real reason for the team's success was the remarkable coöperation of the eleven men as a unit.

At this point in the season's play the Maroon soccer team had reached the peak of its game. It travelled down to New Haven resolved to redeem the defeat suffered at Yales' hands last year. The first half found the possession of the ball changing hands rapidly. The defensive work of both teams was tight and the play was confined to center field. Then, in the second half, our forward line stormed the Yale goal more vigorously and two well-timed forays were culminated by goals. The 2 to 1 victory was well earned and a happy group of soccer players returned home with their most coveted victory of the season.

Playing under adverse conditions the Brockmen were held to a tie by Brown. The fast brilliant passwork that marked the play the previous Saturday at Yale was sadly missing. Profiting by our ragged passwork, Brown jumped ahead with an early two-goal lead in the first half. The Springfield team must be commended for its uphill fight in the second half, but the best that it could gain was a 2 to 2 tie. This was a disappointing showing in view of the excellent team which through no actual fault received reverses that must go on record. A just evaluation of the team's work for the season will philosophically accept such set-backs as inevitable.

The Maroon soccer team closed its 1933 season at Penn. State. In a game that was crucial and deciding the National Championships, Springfield was forced to bow to an inspired opponent. Again, it was a slow start that caused the downfall of the Brockmen. Penn. State slipped through two goals in the first quarter and managed to withstand Springfield's desperate rally in the second half. Although the Maroons were defeated, 2 to 0, they may be consoled by the fact that the winners were one of the finest collegiate aggregation in the country.

The following Seniors received their letters: Co-Captains Lewis and Roberts, Haight, and Dox. Captain Roberts was chosen on the first All-American team as the country's best center forward. From the remaining group of lettermen, "Shelly" Robertson was chosen to lead next year's team. The prospects for a successful team next year are excellent as nine of the lettermen will be back.

VARSIITY CROSS COUNTRY

FOR many years Springfield's cross country teams have been remarkably successful. This has been entirely due to the patient work of a small group of men under the able tutelage of Coach Judd. Contrary to tradition, the 1933 season was not successful from the standpoint of meets won. This was partly due to the regrettable illness of several of the veterans of last year's team and in part due to the lack of new material that had had any running experience. Several of the new men gave promise of developing into good distance runners after sufficient training. But this could not be done over night. Therefore the harriers had to forego any elation that might have been derived from immediate success and patiently started to rebuild a team that will perhaps in later years once more attain the heights known by Springfield cross country teams.

Numbered among the candidates at the first practice session were the veterans, Captain Miller, Tilden, Leathers, and Karl. These four men formed a nucleus around which the team was built. As the practices progressed some of the new men, Hodgkins, Knoght and Vogt, began to show promise.

After a brief training season, the schedule opened with the strong Northeastern harriers at home. The runners from Boston had a strong trio in Simpson, Catley, and Perry. They conducted an exciting duel with "Ken" Miller for the entire distance, managing to beat our man to the tape by a narrow margin. Miller was followed by two more Northeastern men who came home ahead of Tilden, the second Springfield man. Others to finish in Springfield's first five were Hodgkins, Leathers and Karl.

The next meet was with the hill and dalers from Vermont University at home. Our opponents again paced the first men before Capt. Miller came home. Tilden this time moved up to fifth place. Marked improvement was shown by practically every member of the squad.

The following week the team competed in the Harvard open meet on the Charles River Course in Cambridge. The meet, which was won by New Hampshire, brought together some of the best teams of the East. It was a flat course and the winning time of 22 minutes and 31 seconds was exceptionally fast. Our team had to be content with seventh place. Captain Miller was the first man to finish for Springfield. He was followed by Tilden, Clark, Leathers, and Karl in that order.

The first week-end in November found the harriers up in Maine. Under adverse weather conditions the Maroon harriers encountered a powerful team in Bowdoin. The Bowdoin team, which was in top form, ran the race at their own pace and tied six men for first place. The Springfield team found the going on the sandy roads rather difficult, but they finished gamely. The score, 15 to 40, was one of the worst defeats sustained by Springfield in her cross country history.

After a rest of one day, the Springfield team invaded the Bates camp. There, although the weather was as cold as at Bowdoin, the running conditions were very different. The race was conducted through fields with stretches of muddy surface on which the footing was quite dangerous. Nevertheless, the Maroon team performed well. Captain Butler of Bates and Miller held a spectacular duel which was not decided in the former's favor until the last quarter-mile. Miller ran the best race of his collegiate career. Tilden ran a strong race to finish seventh, and Clark and Hodgkins came up fast to beat the next Bates runner-in. Viewed retrospectively, the Cross Country trip to Maine was a representation of our school that we may be proud of, for, although our team failed to win a meet, they left an impression of good sportsmanship which, in the long run, pays higher dividends than mere victories.

The last event of the season for the harriers was the annual New England Inter-collegiate Cross Country Championships. This meet was won by the strong University of New Hampshire outfit. New Hampshire also produced the winner of this five-mile grind, Demoulpied. It was a strenuous race, featured by the close competition which is bound to result when all the best collegiate runners of New England get together. Every position along the line was hotly contested for. Ken Miller for the last time led his mates to the tape. Cliff Clark and Rodger Leathers also performed well for Springfield.

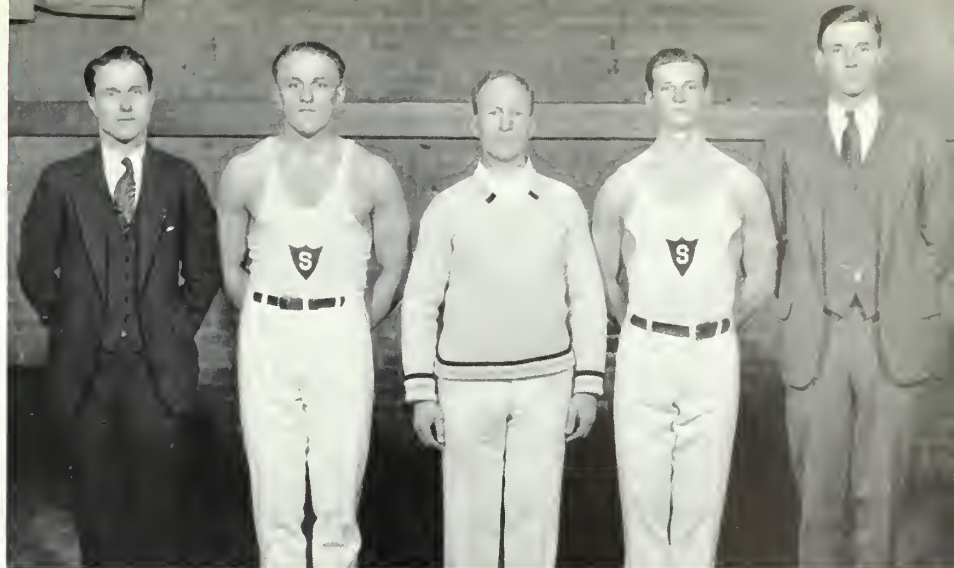

This race marked the last appearance of Miller, Tilden, Leathers, Karl and Newhall. Despite the fact that no wins were registered, Coach Judd is proud of this group. He feels that they gained through the medium of earnest endeavor in manly sport an enjoyment that cannot elsewhere be found.

Next fall Coach Judd will have Captain-elect Clark, Longley, Vogt, Knight, and Hodgkins, besides some promising material from the Freshman group, to build another team.

VARSIY BASKETBALL

THE varsity basketball team enjoyed a successful season despite the early season casualties that confronted the team. Two of its lettermen, Captain Ken Morris and Stew Parks, were forced to watch the team from the sidelines this year due to injuries. As a consequence Coach Hickox was forced to build his team from a large squad of players among whom there was only one letterman present.

The first game of the season was played at home against Stroudsburg and resulted in a well-earned victory for the Springfield five. In the next game our team met defeat at Pratt Institute in New York, the score being 29-14.

After the Christmas holidays the team journeyed to Williams College, where they wrested a 33 to 28 victory from a stubborn and plucky outfit. Baskets by Cella and Collins in the closing minutes of play saved the day for the Maroon. In the next two games, however, the team did not click and was forced to taste defeat from the hands of the Crescent A. C. and Tufts. Both games were lost by fairly large margins due to the failure to capitalize on the numerous scoring chances.

After these two defeats Coach Hickox made a change in the varsity squad by adding several promising players from the junior varsity. This change helped considerably for the following week. led by Cella and Mantell, the team sprang a surprise by defeating the well-balanced Amherst five by a 33 to 26 score.

The first game with Providence was the outstanding game of the season. It was in this game that the team demonstrated its true strength and real fighting spirit. The Providence team, which has grown to be Springfield's strongest court rival, was given a true exhibition of how the game should be played. Our team's passwork was excellent, and the defeat was only due to poor breaks in the closing minutes of the play. An easy game was won when the team took Lowell Textile into camp on the home court by a 43 to 22 count.

In the only long trip of the season, which was taken into Vermont State, the hoopsters defeated Middlebury, St. Michael's, and Vermont in succession, thus bolstering the string of wins to seven. Before losing again, the team annexed two more wins from Northeastern and New Hampshire. Desoe, who was a bulwark of strength all season, proved to be the thorn in Northeastern's side, and Ellis contributed some very valuable points at opportune moments in the New Hampshire game. This game was very close, and an overtime period had to be played before the issue was finally decided.

On Washington's Birthday before a large home-coming crowd that packed the gym, the varsity lost their second game to Providence by a 45 to 33 score. But the Maroon did not allow their six-game winning streak to be broken without putting up a great battle. Hunt for eight glorious minutes thrilled the crowd, scoring ten points before he was forced to leave the game via the personal foul route. Collins carried on with four spectacular baskets in the second half. But the team's morale cracked just before the sounding of the final whistle and Providence romped off with the victory.

Undaunted by this defeat, the Hickox coached five went forward to successfully close the season with two more wins. Against "Conn. Aggies," the Springfield team had the best of a well-played encounter, and the last game of the season found the Coast Guard Academy invading our home court only to be set back by a 40 to 27 score.

Probably the outstanding feature of the 1933-34 team was the fact that the squad was composed most entirely of sophomores. Because Mantell will be the only player lost by graduation, a strong team can be expected for next year. Hunt, Cella, Collins, Desoe, Rees, Savane, Ellis, Greene, DiClementi, and Brown will be back to raise havoc in intercollegiate circles next year. There is also the possibility that "Ken" Morris, this year's disabled captain, will be available next year. This wealth of material will be captained by the popular "Al" Hunt. Pleasant days are ahead for Coach Hickox.

VARSIITY GYMNASTICS

SPRINGFIELD is proud of her athletic teams. But for the Gymnastic Team she reserves an intimate feeling of maternal affection. Perhaps, because Springfield's gymnastic teams are unique. For years the gymnastic team has carried Springfield traditions to all sections of the country. This year's production (for truly they are artistic creations) followed faithfully in the footsteps of its notable predecessors. The team's entertaining was given an international turn by their Easter vacation trip to Nova Scotia, where they were very well received.

Much of the credit for the successful season goes to the Co-Captains Seeley and Babiar. Both of these men have been of great help to Coach Judd during their four years with him.

There is not enough space in this article to adequately comment upon all the exhibitions given during the past winter. Needless to say, the enthusiasm with which these performances continue to be received speaks well for the high standard of workmanship maintained. The Home Exhibition is always the high spot in the season's program. The Washington's Birthday affair was enjoyed by two thousand spectators composed of students and their guests, faculty, alumni, and citizens of Springfield. The whole team performed in a flawless manner and aroused the whole-hearted enthusiasm of the crowd, who applauded unstintingly. Capt. Seeley gracefully executed many intricate movements on the apparatus with such ease and skill that only the informed members of the audience realized the difficulty of his accomplishments. The beautiful demonstration of Indian club swinging by Peter Pretka was made very effective by the use of electric torches in the darkened gymnasium. The spectacular was contributed by Wilbur Tagliabue, who thrilled the audience with his daring dives and meteorite performance in the air. Of the many drills, the Indian dance of greeting was the most impressive. For many, the high spot of the program was the clowning by "Bob" Burcaw and "Dave" Porter. These fellows made use of their talents to keep an appreciative audience highly amused.

In this vein, we could continue indefinitely without hope of commending all the fine work that was done. Underlying the entire program was a unity of organization and team work that made its very presence unnoticeable. This could have been accomplished only after hard and patient work by the entire ensemble. Coach Judd, we congratulate you.

In addition to their exhibitory work, the gym team has entered, during the past few years, the field of intercollegiate competition. Because of an unusually large number of casualties, this year's record was not impressive. Yet it must be remembered that our gymnasts compete with the topnotchers of their sport.

The opening meet was dropped to Temple University, 38-6. With the exception of the high bar event in which Springfield placed one, two, and three, the visitors had much their own way. Capt. Seeley was the star of the meet with a first in the high bar, a second in the side horse and parallel bars and a third in the tumbling.

In the following meet, a strong Princeton team was given a scare by the well-balanced representatives from Springfield. But the failure to capture a sufficient number of first places proved to be the Maroon's undoing. The final score was 34-20.

The team's only victory of the season was gained at the expense of M. I. T., 35-19. The entire team had a field day, Sceley, Babiary, Luoma, DiClementi, Pretka, Porozyński, Larson, and Tagliabue contributing to the score.

The next guest of the year was the championship team from the United States Naval Academy. This was the first visit of a Navy team to our campus. Living up to all expectations, the future admirals put on a marvelous performance and gave the spectators thrill after thrill. Their star, Bemis, was the only opponent of the year to rival our own Capt. Seeley in his grace of execution of the various stunts.

The last contest of the season was with the undefeated Army team. Although the score, 46-7, was one-sided, many of the events were closely contested. Tagliabue did well to place third in the parallel bars event. Entrance in the Intercollegiate Gymnastics at Princeton closed the competitive season. In this meet, which found the finest gymnasts of the East competing for honors, Capt. Seeley brought to an end his collegiate career in a fitting manner by placing in both the horizontal bar and tumbling events.

For financial reasons the team is forced to discontinue its membership in the gymnastic league, and, therefore, next year it will confine itself exclusively to exhibitions, traveling all over the country and contacting many young men who desire to enter the field of Physical Education but who are undecided as to the college to attend for instruction.

Co-Captains Seeley and Babiar, Pretka, DiClementi, Larsen, and Davis are seniors whose conscientious teamwork has set an enviable example, one which those who follow will do well to equal. Luoma, Tagliabue, and Porter, all three-year men, will again be with the team next year, and it is expected that these men, with the aid of Henriksen, Burcaw, Tyni, Hyde, and Turner, will be instrumental in assisting Coach Judd to whip the newcomers into a smoothly working team. Porozynski, Hassley, Iverson, and Hill are sophomores who will be with the team for two more years.

In spite of the handicaps, the spirit of the team's members remained undaunted and it was this splendid spirit and the feeling of voluntary obligation that they felt for Coach Judd that made success possible.

VARSIITY WRESTLING

COLLEGE sports are in many ways emblematic of what colleges represent in the life of a nation. The contrast between collegiate wrestling and the professional "racket" points out this contribution of college life in a very vivid manner. Under the direction of Coach Pennock, Springfield has played an important part in the general attempt to bring back this classical sport to the heights it once knew. While on this "knightly" errand, the Maroon representatives also have managed to hold their own with the strongest teams that the East could offer. Although the score sheet shows four losses as against four wins, the winning of the New England team Championships more than made up for the losses; therefore, the season may be considered one of the most successful in recent years. Due to the interesting home meets conducted during the past winter, outstanding among which was the New England Championships, many new friends were brought to our campus.

Early prospects of an all-veteran team faded with the loss of Gavoni and MacNeil, 1933 representatives in the heavy divisions. Nevertheless, it was a promising group that greeted Coach Pennock at the first practice. With the return of Tommy Wood, Red Elder, Rog Leathers, Cliff Clark, Harry Hall and Vic Kodis, the first six classes seemed to be well taken care of. The two leading candidates for the vacancies were Powers and L'Hommedieu. After looking over his protégés very closely, Coach Pennock selected the aforementioned eight to withstand Brown's invasion on Jan. 13. For the first time in three years our wrestlers took the measure of the Rhode Island grapplers. The Bruins were humbled by the decisive score of 2 to 3, the visitors failing to win a bout. The two sophomores, Powers and L'Hommedieu, showed promise in their initial appearances. Wrestling for the first time, Powers held Kelly of Brown to a draw, and L'Hommedieu defeated Olsen after a gripping bout in which both men won and lost the advantage frequently.

The following week-end, the grapplers continued their good work by bowling over two more opponents. The Stroudsburg Teacher's College were surprisingly strong, but Springfield's superiority forced them to accept their only defeat of the season. Hall thrilled the crowd with a spectacular fall over Rosnick in one minute and fifteen seconds. Co-Capts. Elder and Leathers also performed in the efficient manner that has characterized their work for the past four years. Strength in the heavier weights enabled Stroudsburg to eradicate some of the bitterness of these falls. The next evening the Pennockmen took on Polytech. Smarting from the close score forced on them the night before, the Springfield mat men wrestled with a vengeance as the 28 to 0 score indicates. Many of the Polytech. men, although outclassed, pluckily fought to prevent being thrown. The two falls were secured by Wook, 118-pounder, and Powers, 175-pound star.

After such an auspicious start, the grapplers were visited by hard times. The next match with the powerful Army team was disastrous. The Maroon wrestlers were quite overawed by the military surroundings. Out of the 30 to 6 defeat only Hall and Kodis managed to salvage wins. Nevertheless, it would not be unjust to say that the score was not truly indicative of the relative strength of the two teams.

The same can be said of the meet with Harvard, who downed our wrestlers 20-6. The first break that went our opponent's way was when Red Elder was illegally injured and the referee gave the Harvard man the match. Leathers was vastly superior to his man, having him in constant danger the entire ten minutes; but the eel-like twistings of the Harvard man kept his shoulders from the mat. The most determined work of the evening was turned in by Powers, who fought desperately for ten minutes to prevent Capt. Ames of Harvard from throwing him. This speaks "oceans" for the improvement of the inexperienced Powers, because Ames has been one of the outstanding mat men in national intercollegiate circles for the past three years.

The Iowa State National Championship team was the next opponent of the Pennoek men. The appreciative audience who turned out in a terrific blizzard to witness the match were entertained by some excellent demonstrations. Lillie and Ruggles of Iowa are two of the best mat men ever to have shown in this section. Cliff Clark and Vie Kodis were the only Maroon wrestlers to win their bouts. Springfield points with pride to the Iowa coach's statement that Springfield was the second strongest team that his boys had to face during the season.

The annual meet with Tufts resulted in a disappointing defeat. The Jumbos were strong in the 118, 126, and unlimited classes, while Springfield retaliated in the 135-, 145-, 155-pound classes, making the score 19 to 11. The keenest bout of the night was the overtime match between Smith of Tufts and Kodis of Springfield. M. I. T. was met and defeated in the last dual meet of the season. All of our men worked well. Kodis wrestled Capt. Poole to a standstill, only to lose by the narrowest of margins. The final score was 21-13.

The New England Championships, at which Yale, Harvard, Tufts, M. I. T., Brown and Springfield competed, were closely contested, due to the well-matched teams that represented the respective colleges. Although the Tufts brigade walked off with four of the eight individual championships, the team strength of the Pennoek men secured the team trophy for Springfield. Leathers and Hall, wrestling for their last in Maroon uniforms, reigned supreme in their classes.

Leathers a few weeks later went further to win second place in the National Championships. Besides Leather and Hall, Wood and Elder will be lost to the team next year. It is with sincere regret that Springfield witnesses the passing of these four from her ranks. All four will be hard to replace. Nevertheless, the prospects for next year look very good with Captain-elect Clark, Kodis, Powers, and L'Hommedieu plus a host of new material on hand to mold another strong team.

Men to receive their letters were: Co-Captains Leathers and Elder, Wook, Clark, Hall, Kodis, Powers, L'Hommedieu, Lewis, Martin, Sargeant, and Mgr. Wallace.

Varsity Swimming

SPRINGFIELD is earning the reputation in collegiate circles as a "Jack the Giant-Killer." One can understand what is meant by this by glancing at our swimming schedule for the past winter, which contained such teams as Yale, Dartmouth, Army, Brown, Colgate, etc. After the faithful practising of fundamentals, painstaking work on the coördinated stroke, and intensive training, a team, capable of accomplishing the Herculean tasks assigned was produced by Coach Cureton. And what a team! It was without question the best ever to represent Springfield in tank competitions. Due to its efforts every college record was broken in all swim and relay events with one exception.

True to form Cureton's charges splashed their way to an easy victory over Providence Boys' Club. But the score, which was 50-28, does not reveal the visitor's true strength. In Chrostowski and Higgins they had stars of the first water, three tank records falling before their assault. The 440-yard swim produced a duel between Chrostowski and Capt. Silvia that was a thriller. The former was forced to a new tank record of 5:20 in order to win. Holland started the season off right by lowering the 40-yard dash mark to 18.5.

For Springfield the annual meet with Yale is a swimming classic. Although our team has very little chance of defeating their notable opponents, they gain much experience by competing against this first-class opposition. Yet it should not be thought that Springfield team allowed their opponent's reputation to coerce them into letting down, for Yale had to work for everything it won. Holland led the dash men to the finish, and Silvia made the distance men exert themselves to the utmost. The relay team, composed of Holland, Westcott, Jackson, and Koch, won the 400-yard event in the excellent time of 3 min. 52 sec. The score of the meet was 51-29.

The next meet at Hanover resulted in an unexpected defeat at the hands of Dartmouth. Capt. Silvia had little trouble winning his specialty, the 440; Sugden swam hard to annex a win in the backstroke. But Dartmouth accumulated a safe margin on unexpected points accruing from victories in the breast stroke and diving events. Holland stole the show with a featured win over Banfield, the Dartmouth captain, in the 50-yard dash. This was the first defeat suffered by the Big Green leader in three years of varsity dual meet competition.

West Point was the next citadel to be attacked by the Maroon swimmers. The meet was a close one, not being decided until the last relay event which the Army won. The 43 to 38 defeat can be mainly attributed to the inability to win first places. Holland, Linton, and Sugden came through in their races. Capt. Silvia lost two heart-breaking races by the scantiest of margins.

After losing to the powerful Yale, Dartmouth, and Army teams, the tankmen returned to the winning column at the expense of the Colgate team. Once again Capt. Silvia, Dutch Holland and "Baldy" Linton came through in grand style. This 48 to 29 victory over the strong Colgate team put new impetus into our boys.

The next two teams Bowdoin and Williams were taken in stride. The Bowdoin meet proved to be a gala affair for the locals, records falling right and left. The first record to go was the 440-yard free style. Silvia broke his own intercollegiate record for this event by eight and two-tenths seconds. The relay quartet, Silvia, Westcott, Koch, and Holland followed this with a new mark of 3 minutes and 48 seconds for the 400-yard relay. And not to be outdone, the 300-yard medley men hung up a new mark of 3 minutes and 10.9 seconds. The Bowdoin men were clearly outclassed, many of the races resulting in duels between the two Springfield men. The score was 57 to 20. The Williams meet the next evening was a bit more interesting, resulting in a 54 to 25 score. In the short dash, Williams registered a victory due to the absence of Holland. The 220-yard swim provided the best race of the meet. In this race Church of Williams had just enough drive left to stave off Westcott's belated spurt. Sugden acquired glory in the 300-yard medley swim. He covered the distance in 4 minutes 8.5 seconds for a New England record. One of the heartening features of the meet was the improvement shown by our divers. Martyn and Newhall gave finished performances to win first and second places respectively.

For the second consecutive year our team made a great bid for the New England Championships. After two hectic days of racing the meet ended with Springfield in runner-up position to Brown. Dutch Holland, swimming in the championships for the first time, captured two sprint titles. The outstanding race on the program was between Capt. Silvia and Church of Williams in the 440. This race ended in a tie in the impressive time of 5.21. Brown's win in the relay, which was the last event, was the deciding factor in their victory.

The following week, our swimmers closed their season at Brown. Once again the Bruins managed to nose out our men. Holland repeated his decisive victories over Capt. Lewis of Brown. Capt. Silvia closed his intercollegiate career by winning the 300-yard medley in the fast time of 4.05, after having placed in both the 220- and 440-yard swims.

Silvia, who was the greatest distance swimmer to ever compete for Springfield, has set a fine example of perseverance for future natators to emulate. With Silvia will be graduated Westcott, Deane, Jackson, Linton, and Newhall. This group of seniors accounted for 46 per cent of the total points scored during the season and they leave a gap in the ranks that will be hard to fill. The lettermen who will return are Captain-elect Koch, Martyn, Wulff, Pawling, Brown, McNiven, Scott, Holland and Sugden.

The following New England records were set during the past winter:

40-yard—18.8, by Holland.

50-yard—24, by Holland.

100-yard—54.8 (short pool), by Holland.

440-yard—5.18.2 (short pool), by Silvia.

440-yard—5.19.7 (long pool), by Silvia.

300-yard individual medley—4.00.8 (short pool), by Silvia.

300-yard medley—3.10.9 (short pool), by Sugden, Linton, and Holland.

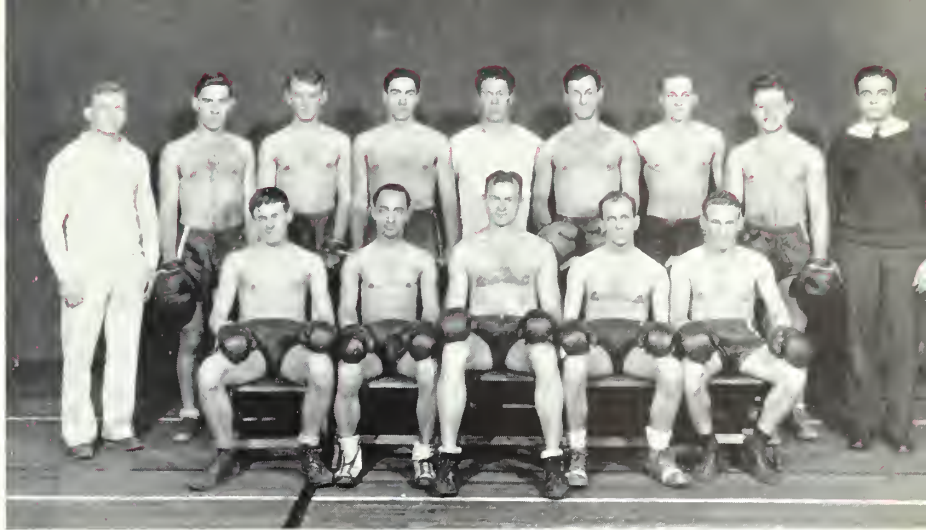

400-yard relay—3.18 (short pool), by Silvia, Westcott, Koch and Holland.

VARSIITY BOXING

FACING a stiffer schedule than ever before, the Maroon boxing commenced its fourth year of intercollegiate competition under the able guidance of Billy Taylor. This year Harvard, New Hampshire and Coast Guard Academy were unusually strong.

In the first matches of the season, Harvard, which had the advantage of engaging in two meets previous to ours, pinned a defeat on the Maroons by the score of 6 to 2. All the matches were close. Ober and Green fought well, holding their seasoned opponents to draws; Johnny Dox was the sensation of the evening, knocking out his man in the first round. Springfield was obliged to forfeit the heavyweight class.

The following week three members of the Paris Athletic Club, whose ship was docked at New York, were able to come to Springfield. They gave the Maroons three stiff matches. Auderton hammered out a win; Pendlebury swapped punches evenly with his man; and Captain Lugenbehl lost a close decision to their hard hitting heavyweight.

In the third meet of the season the Springfield team was host to Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The high light of this meet was Pendlebury's knockout in the final match of the evening. This enabled the Maroons to tie the boxers from Boston, $3\frac{1}{2}$ to $3\frac{1}{2}$. Elliot showed fine form gaining a decision; Ober knocked his man out; and Auderton was given a draw. Carey, the welterweight for the Engineers, gave a beautiful exhibition of footwork. The efforts of the boxers were well received by a large audience which was kept on its toes throughout the evening's program.

At New Hampshire the Springfield team was shut out 3 to 0. All the matches were close. Captain Lugenbehl put up a splendid fight against their star, Moody, who is a Golden Glove winner. Injuries to Pendlebury and Ober, and the illness of Coach Taylor hampered the team in this meet.

In the final meet at New London, the U. S. Coast Guard Academy managed to pin a 5 to 2 defeat on the Maroons. Most of the matches were so close that they could have been called either way. Pendlebury pulled a surprise by knocking out their undefeated captain in 17 seconds of the first round. Captain Lugenbehl ended four years of brilliant fighting in a blaze of glory by decisively whipping their hard punching light heavyweight.

Although they failed to win a meet, the Maroon boxers demonstrated much skill and valor in all their meets. With limited material and an irregular schedule, the Springfield team deserves much credit for the courage and spirit that they displayed all season.

Too little cannot be said about Coach Billy Taylor, who untiringly gave his time and services to prepare our team for the hardest season yet experienced in Springfield's four years of intercollegiate boxing.

Johnny Pendlebury ended his career brilliantly. In his only defeat of the year at Harvard, he had his man pitifully hanging on as the final bell rang. Greene and Anderton, new men, gave good account of themselves in their matches.

Letters were given to four seniors, Captain Lugenbehl, Pendlebury, Dox, and Elliot; and to Co-captains-elect McCluskey and Ober, Anderton and Greene. In addition to those last mentioned, such experienced men as Bradford, Sanborn, Miller and Nieland will be available for next year's team.

VARSIY INDOOR TRACK

INDOOR track is a relatively new sport at Springfield, but under the inspiring and never tiring coaching of "Jack" Rothacher and the able assistance of Fowler, the team came through the season with flying colors.

In spite of our restricted facilities and limited number of candidates, we were able to assemble quite a squad for the two dual meets at the end of the season.

In the early part of the winter, the relay team traveled to Boston three times and won two races quite handily and lost a third after a hard fought battle. Our team ran in the following order: W. Knight, S. Parks, R. Tilden, and R. Bigelow, with H. Memery as alternate. In the first race, the relayists partially avenged our former defeats by Brown by leaving her team fifty yards in the rear with Tufts trailing on behind. This was at the Prout Games. On the second trip to Boston, our quartet was not as successful, being beaten by Northeastern at the B. A. A. games. Time: 3.31. Knight did excellent work in the dash event by holding his own in a classy field of sprinters until the semi-finals.

At the University Club games, our team beat New Hampshire and Maine but we failed to win one of the medal places because they were decided by comparative times. The entire team was well represented in the place winners. Captain Smith secured a tie for third in the high jump; Farmer dropped out of the pole vault at twelve feet; and Knight remained in the fifty yard dash up to the semi-finals.

On March 9 the Springfield tracksters journeyed to Amherst where they were nosed out by the "Lord Jeffs" by the score of 57½ to 50½. Parks with 19 points was by far the outstanding performer of the day. He placed first in the broad jump, dash, and 440. Smith heaved the shot a foot further than any previous performance by him. Capt. Sweet of Amherst featured with a first place in both the half and the mile.

The next week a determined team set out for Wesleyan and came back with a 78 to 35 win over the Cardinals. Parks and Knight were the outstanding performers. The latter finished his college career with a win in the dash and 440. Records were broken right and left: Smith set a cage record in the shot put, 43 ft. 10 inches; Bigelow lowered Nevius' record for the 880 by a full second; Farmer and Mihailoff broke the pole vault record by 6 inches with a jump of eleven feet six inches; and the relay team set a new mark for the eight lap relay. It was a successful close to the indoor season and the prospects of continued success this coming spring seem very good.

And a feeling of sadness comes o'er me
That my soul cannot resist.*

*Come, read to me some poem,
Some simple and heart-felt lay,
That shall soothe this restless feeling,
And banish the thoughts of day.*

*Then read from the treasured volume
The poem of thy choice,
And lend to the rhyme of the poet
The beauty of thy voice.*

And the cares, that infect the day,
Shall fold their tents, like the Arabs,
And as silently steal away.*
